Working from Home - and other Extreme Sports

With working from home no longer a short-term solution, but a long-term resolution for many companies, join Sydney Lepora, Special Events Communications Manager for Hilton on February 10, at 12:30 p.m. as she reveals tips and tricks for making your home office feel a bit less like “home.” Lepora began her tenure at Hilton nearly two years ago as a remote team member, providing her with unique insight on working from home productivity, communicating with team members from a remote office, and managing relationships with your team virtually.
